MODO Advocaten / Avocats is delighted to welcome Dodo Chochitaichvili as new member of its association.

Dodo Chochitaichvili, member of the Brussels Bar since 2011, has experience in litigation and arbitration in general commercial matters, including disputes involving contract law and competition law. She also assists SMEs & start-ups in various matters, such as sharing economy, digital economy and consumer protection.

Prior to joining MODO, Dodo gained experience in the Regulatory & Litigation department of an international global law firm for several years and also developed her own practice.

With her litigation and arbitration expertise in civil and commercial matters, Dodo will reinforce the different sector focus teams of MODO.

Her contribution will furthermore be bundled with the expertise of Didier Deneuter, Dominique Walravens and Régine Feltkamp to provide start-ups and SMEs with strategic-legal advice within the free think tank "Innovative Thinking", as well as within a long-term relationship.

Dodo Chochitaichvili says: "MODO has a highly experienced team in regulated and creative industries as well as in property. The firm has a genuine interest in innovation and focuses on several industries, of which advising SMEs & start-ups, which is in line with my vision. I look forward to working with a dynamic and client-oriented team, and to further expand the firm's client offering in French".

"We very much look forward to Dodo joining MODO", says Régine Feltkamp, heading the regulatory team at MODO. "Her knowledge of competition law and network industries, her experience in sharing economy projects, her strong litigation skills are a significant added value for my team. Dodo will allow MODO also to further develop its services in French. Finally, but not last, Dodo's determination and enthusiasm in developing her business is inspiring and encouraging for us all."
